Review Summary

This surah illustrates a social environment where the righteous and the sinners interact and the good and the evil interact. The surah explains what will ultimately happen to each group of people. In this process, the surah emphasizes that everyone is accountable for his or her own actions. The records of our deeds are carefully maintained and they will be revealed on the Day of Judgment. In summary, the surah has four parts—(1) dealing with the cheaters, (2) condemning the cheaters, (3) giving an account of the righteous, and (4) dealing with how the sinners taunted the righteous people and how the righteous people will respond to their taunting.

The surah can be divided into 4 parts:

Part 1: Ayat 1—6: Allāh (swt) condemns the cheaters who gain wealth by bad means.
Part 2: Ayat 7—17: Here we learn about evil doers and their fate in the Hereafter.
Part 3: Ayat 18—28: Here we learn the fate of the righteous people.
Part 4: Ayat 29—36: The surah concludes with the description of the sinners.
